

Announcing the 13th Annual “Come Go With Me” Poster Contest

Sponsored by
Long Island Transportation Management, Inc. (LITM)
Under contract with New York State Department of Transportation (NYSDOT)

Traffic congestion and air pollution affect the quality of life for all of us living and working on Long Island. It is our goal to educate and assist the public about alternative means of transportation available to them, such as carpooling, vanpooling, telecommuting or public transportation.

You may be familiar with the message on the blue highway signs:

Now you can help your students in grades K-8 learn about these important issues by participating in the 13th Annual “Come Go With Me” Poster Contest!

By participating in this creative learning project, you'll be playing an important role in teaching children that they can help improve traffic congestion and air quality on Long Island. Our hope is that your students will take this valuable message home to their families the same way that they helped energize recycling awareness on Long Island.

Every year we receive hundreds of entries from schools across Long Island. The winning posters from this year's contest will be showcased in LITM's 2009 “Come Go With Me” calendar, which will be distributed to hundreds of people and businesses on Long Island. The winning artists will receive prize packages containing a U.S. Savings bond along with gifts from local businesses. The awards will be presented at a ceremony and dinner honoring the winners. We've enclosed a copy of our 2008 calendar as well as photos from last year's fun-filled event for you to see!

13th Annual Come Go With Me Poster Contest
• Curriculum Suggestions •

CONTEXT:

Children are encouraged to think about ways to reduce traffic congestion and improve air quality on Long Island. As the children use various art materials to create posters, they learn the importance of commute options, such as carpooling, telecommuting, mass transit traveling, biking and walking, to reduce single-occupant auto travel. One way to start the thought process is to ask students to list ways to get to work without driving alone. Another way is to ask them to discuss the negative impacts of traffic congestion (air pollution, increased stress, longer commutes, etc.) and the positive impacts of reducing traffic congestion (healthier lungs, calmer people, more time to relax with the family, etc.). These conversations with your students provide a segue into the topic of driving etiquette and safety, such as being courteous to fellow drivers, adhering to traffic laws, and obeying traffic signals.

STUDENTS:

Use a variety of sources for conveying and developing ideas, images and themes in the creation of your artwork. For example, discuss how Long Islanders can help reduce single-occupancy car travel, such as “buddying up” in a carpool and using the train, buses and HOV Lanes.

Here are some other ideas you can use to illustrate different themes:

- Commuters using buses and trains
- A commuter picking up a carpool or vanpool partner(s).
- Commuters utilizing the HOV Lanes
- Biking and walking to “run” errands
- Trip Chaining: Grouping errands together in a loop to save time and gas and to pollute less by reducing travel miles
- Telecommuting
- Hybrid Vehicles
- Using your car less just one day each week will give everyone cleaner air.

Entries from prior years included colorful visuals combined with creative headlines, like:

- Why Drive Alone? Come Go With Me!
- Spare the Air, Do Your Share, Carpool There and Everywhere
- Don’t be a polluter commuter: Be part of a group effort!
- To Keep Clean Air, Bike and Hike in Between

For more ideas, enclosed is a copy of last year’s calendar or visit www.4commute.com.

ART TEACHERS:

Be sure your students use the elements and principles of art to communicate their message through their artwork. Entrants may create artwork based on a range of individual and collective experiences.

PERFORMANCE INDICATORS FOR STUDENTS:

- Identify, discuss and evaluate the best options for reducing single-occupant auto travel to create a cleaner environment and better community.
- Demonstrate the ability to translate transportation, rideshare and environmental concepts into a poster combining appealing artwork with a snappy caption.

One of the best investments we can make in the future of our children is to educate them about the importance of protecting our environment and making our communities better places to live. Relieving traffic congestion and reducing air pollution help achieve these goals.

Good luck and don’t hesitate to call Janice Campbell, LITM, (631)777-7722, Ext. 12, if you require any additional information or directions!
